The Astrological and World Events of this Lunation: JFK assassination second Saturn Return, Mars Occultation and Festival of the Red Swords

In this episode Daniel discusses the most important astrological events with national and global implications.

Included in the discussion are:

1) the final Pluto conjunction to the US chart (just into the next lunation), Dec.27

2) the close of the Neptune opposition to Neptune on the US chart, Dec.3

3) the Mars square Neptune retrograde in relation to the US chart

4) Mars conjunct the US Mars, Nov.23

5) The final portion of the synodic nodal return to the stock market crash era of 1929

6) the Saturn return to the assassination of JFK in 1963, Nov.22

7) The little known Druidic "FESTIVAL OF THE RED SWORDS" at December Full Moon. You won't want to miss this one! Books referenced: JFK and the Unspeakable: Why he died and why it matters by James W.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=vz31O...>hello everyone this is

Daniel Giamario for my monthly NEW Moon video blog and I have a number of topics for today and both of the main topics are of a considerable personal interest to me the topics will include the Saturn Return Point, 59 years of the since the Kennedy assassination November 22nd, I'd like to honor November 22nd, that as a remembrance of that event, which I want to discuss here and then also something that I came upon way back in 1990, which is actually going to happen again at the next Full Moon, which is called "the Festival of the Red Swords." There's a number of things that I'm going to go through here and we can actually just start with looking at, since these video blogs happen at the time of the NEW Moon.

Let's just quickly look at the chart of the NEW Moon and then we can go into the significance of November 22nd, I'm here today assisted with the slide presentation by Awen our managing director, and here we go. Here's the topic page here, "Turning of the Ages Mystery School", the astrological and world events of this little Nation, the JFK assassination second Saturn Return, Mars Occultation and the Festival of the Red Swords, have a lot to share about the Mars occultation also, and let's take a look at the NEW Moon chart. So what's interesting here, and there'll be certain similar themes that are going to come up in the course of this conversation is that you can see Mars at 21° Gemini, and actually Mars will be in

Gemini for a good seven months. I did a write, I wrote up something on that a couple of months ago. You can also notice here at the NEW Moon, we have it in early Sagittarius, and Venus and Mercury in Sagittarius are holding court on the other side of the Sun. So, both of them are in the Underworld and we've discussed that in some depth at other times. You'll also notice that Jupiter is back at that those latter degrees of Pisces, and we'll soon be going back into Aries and notice that Chiron is 12° Aries, some of these topics will weave through the conversation as we go through the material today. Also please do note here, that the nodal axis as it will do whenever we're in the vicinity of an eclipse season, remains at that 13th degree of Taurus-Scorpio. And remember, that pretty much everything that I'm sharing here is within that same context of that 93-year synodic return of the Nodal Axis, similar to 1929, as I've discussed before. So that's the background of this lunation. Let's dive in by looking at the November 22, 1963 chart, but this was very personal to me. I was 15-years old, I was a junior in high school, and I was living in Bangkok Thailand. My dad was a military officer and so, I was going to an international school in Bangkok, and so basically, we, well this is one of the things that's been true in my life, which is a lot of the way I see the world does not come from a U.S.-centric perspective of being only in the U.S., but having been pretty much a world traveler starting with my being what's called

“a military brat.” Anyway, by being over in Thailand just as the Vietnam War was ramping up, we experienced in Bangkok when the Prime Minister of Vietnam, a DM was assassinated. This was just before he was going to be going into peace talks with the Viet Cong, and asked the U.S. advisors to leave and that has now been seen through research to have been a CIA hit on DM. But it was only like three weeks later that this event happened, and I like to think of it and I'm not the only one who said this at all, the killing of the three kings, the three kings being first JFK, then RFK Jr, and then of course, Martin Luther King this was a tremendously earth-shaking event. The later generations can barely be aware, they can't. It's hard for them to be aware of just what a shock this was, and not just to the sensibility of the people who went through the experience of it, to see like a public execution but to the ramifications of it over time. And I'm wanting to look at this from the perspective of astrological cycles. So, you'll notice several things to notice here on this assassination chart, Saturn in 17° Aquarius, Moon at 11° Aquarius, the Ascendant in 19° Aquarius. And that means that we're just completing now, the window of initiation for the second Saturn Return from the point of the assassination. Also, whenever there is a second Saturn Return, there's also in the vicinity of the second Saturn Return, a Jupiter Return. And, while you can see here that the 9° of Aries is the placement of Jupiter for the date of the assassination, that Jupiter had moved up to the 8° earlier in the year, but it will have its direct contact, the exact conjunction coming up in the early next year. So, in a sense, this is the pattern that some people follow in their second Saturn Return, with the Jupiter events following the Saturn events. Now you might say, “Well, while Saturn is beyond 17°- 18°, but we have a nine-month window of initiation, and it's more like 10, because we would include the 19° of Aquarius 20” as part of the overall Saturn cycle, which actually started back on February 7, 2022. And so, we're at the culmination event of the second Saturn Return. It's still in the window of initiation of the Jupiter Return to the chart on it. From the perspective of an individual horoscope, Saturn Returns are really important, of course; the second Saturn Returned possibly even more because there's also the Jupiter Return at that time period. And if you look at that original signature, it also turns out to be rather close to the Moon position of the U.S. chart, and also the fact that the Nodal axis is so directly connected to the U.S. chart in many ways. So let's look at the U.S. chart relative to this. So, what I'm referencing here is the placement of the Aquarian placement South Node, 6° Aquarius, and then the Moon at 27° Aquarius, and then the clumping of planets on the U.S. chart in Cancer, which is very much in alignment with the assassination chart.

Now of course, over the years, there has been a huge amount of work done on the Kennedy assassination,

I think there was over 250 books written about it, including a lot of material that was released for the first time to the public maybe about 10 years ago. So we know way more about that time now, and it was my opinion here, anyone who still thinks that that was done by one person, “the lone-nut theory,” they just haven't done the research on... in fact it was after Kennedy was killed that the CIA created the theme of conspiracy theorists. So anyone who questions a mainstream narrative is called that automatically. Though from our perspective back then, and to see what has unfolded on the planet up to this point, I like to look at actually what happened there with that Dallas public execution was actually including who they talked it's essentially in many ways, the last genuine, somewhat-free American president was some JFK. And, it turns out that what, some of the many reasons in my research is noted is, because he was putting out incredible feelers of Peace. You know he was going, running, he had back channels with Khrushchev, he had back channels with Cuba, and this went against what the NeoCon, Deep State, anti-Russian, anti-communist faction in the U.S. wanted. It is also the case, I just want to... while we're on this particular subject, for those who are interested in doing some of the research and have an idea of where I'm coming from on this, by looking directly at the astrology here. First it all, started with a book called “The Secret Team: The CIA, Its Allies in Control of the United States and the World,” and it's written by Fletcher

Prouty, who was the main advisor in the movie JFK. It came out 20, 30 years ago. Who was Fletcher Prouty? He was the chief of Special Operations for the Joint Chiefs of Staff under Kennedy. But since then, based on recent research, there's three other books I can suggest. Probably the very very best of all of them is called "JFK and the Unspeakable: Why He Died and Why It Matters," by James Douglas. And it actually has to do with the connection between Kennedy and the Christian monk Thomas Merton and showing to what extent Kennedy had really changed his mind on so many different things, and I think was becoming a peace candidate actually. Other books that go into this in some depth are "Speaking Truth in a County of Lies," by Edward Curtin. Excellent read, it can fill you in on a lot of things. And then probably the best of all that uncovers so many of the ingredients is, I mean some I wouldn't say I like it as much for the general public, as the one called again, "Unspeakable," that I mentioned before, but it's a book called "Twilight Language," by Michael Hoffman. They all go into this and particularly unpack the idea behind the conspiracy theory, lone-nut stuff, which is designed to distract people from looking more deeply into what really has taken place in this country. So I can understand here why this has been on my mind and you know given that I go back that far, where it happened when I was a junior in high school, and then lived in college. And you know, when I was in late high school and in college was when RFK and Martin Luther King were killed. And the events of the 1968, it was all during Uranus-Pluto conjunction with Jupiter, a lot to unpack. And we have talked about that in some depth at other times.

Now going forward, I just want to briefly run through kind of as a recap the major events relative to the U.S. chart over this next month because it's packed with stuff I think we need to be aware of. So let's go to the next one you have there Awen.

So there is the often-spoken of, everybody knows about this, the U.S. Pluto Return. Now while this is not completing in this lunation, slightly after. I mean it's happening December 28, 2022. We are in that last portion of three exact conjunctions of Pluto to the U.S. Pluto and what will be included in the resources for this video blog will be again, a link to all the different previous articles and videos I've done on the U.S. chart. But if we just put our attention on Pluto, then of course in fact, what is Pluto about? It's underworld and going into the hidden material and becoming aware of what is the revelation of secrets. But also, the power that can come from what happens when one composts what needs to be composted and when I say "what needs," well that isn't you know what some human says "needs to be composted." It's more of a Universal-Will kind of thing, a bit of it would also have to do with the Earth Mother herself. What is her opinion, what the underworld... to our view of Pluto in this school, is that Pluto is not one of the three brothers that Zeus allocated to the world in beginning of patriarchy. But in fact, that Pluto is actually a feminine energy, but it's obviously the underworld goddesses: Erishchiel, Kali, Durga, even elements of Shakti would have to do with that particular element of the Sacred feminine. So we're trying obviously in our school to move beyond the patriarchal hijack.

So then we can go to Neptune turning direct, December 3rd, completes about a year-and-three-quarter initiatory window of Neptune opposing the U.S. Neptune. The U.S. Neptune is really close to where that turning direct point is on December 3rd. And so, it's not just us being in a Pluto return, but also, the only second Neptune opposition since its inception. So that's a really important point, also for individual cycles, NOT just the U.S., but any of you out there that have been in Neptune cycles recently, that's a major turning point in the Neptune cycle. And THIS also illustrates or emphasizes, amplifies what had been discussed back in the earlier part of the year, which was the Jupiter-Neptune conjunction, which I theorized was a seed point for 155 years. Actually, Jupiter in Pisces, and now, Jupiter is still in back in Pisces, and we have the end of the Neptune opposition on the U.S. chart. Remember again, also about Mars in Gemini here, as we go forward.

So the next one to look at would be the second of the three, Mars square Neptune. And it's the only one retrograde. And there's some other astrologers that have done some really good work on this. So I'm not the only one talking about this, even in our own school, Erik Roth has written and produced some really good material about this. Actually, Erik and I are going to be doing a seminar coming up around this time period regarding Jupiter in Aries. And meanwhile, we also have our continuing series of seminars on The Mars Cycle, which will be a lot more of those next year. BUT here, what I'm wanting you to notice is the position of Neptune, which is almost precisely the U.S. position. The U.S. Neptune is 22° 25", so here we have Neptune at 22° 42". And then we have the square, you can see, with Mars at 22° Gemini. One of the things I noticed even before beginning this video blog today, is that at the point when I'm doing this video blog, which is actually the 21st of November in U.S., Mars in its retrograde cycle is conjunct the U.S. Mars. And so, over these seven months, there's many times in the time period that Mars is in Gemini, where it makes an exact conjunction with some U.S. Mars. So this is emphasized strongly by the Neptune square Mars, which also, for those who, if we lose track of this, is also there on the natal chart of the U.S.- that is to say, Neptune square Mars. And I've looked at this in some depth in previous articles and video blogs about how what it symbolizes are all the confusions around what I would call, "bifurcation, two-party system: team red - team blue, vaxxed - unvaxxed". You know basically gender, the bifurcation, which is really major in the United States. And you have to remember that our Founding Fathers warned against the country becoming a two-party thing. But of course, let's just look right on the chart. How could the US have gotten out of it, if you look at that Gemini Mars there? And so now we have the Neptune square, and the Neptune opposition and Neptune square Mars, which is happening in the world right now. But which also is tremendously connected: What's happening to the U.S. chart during this Final Phase of the Pluto Return and all the other amazing things that we've talked about before, regarding the election and regarding the other phenomena, that's what's happening: you know total lunar eclipse and Venus in the Underworld and so on, Mars retrograde, all at that particular time period. And then, as I mentioned before, the 93-year cycle of the Return of the Nodal Axis to the same general area at the same time of year, so there's that ingredient. So what's the next one we have there Awen?

Yeah, so now we want to jump up to this remarkable Full Moon, we're still within that larger eclipse-window, time period, not the eclipse season, we're past the eclipse season. So there's no lunar eclipse happening on this day, but there's something super important that is happening, particularly for northern and western Europe and the U.S., which is fairly rare, to be this long and spectacular occultation of the Moon over Mars. And you can see why that's so, because there, you see Mars at 16° Gemini and you see the Moon at 16° Gemini and the Sun of down there at 16° Sag. While we're looking at this configuration here right now, just take note of the fact that the great red star Aldebaran, during this time in the processional history of the planet, is at 10° Gemini. And then, look down near the Sun is the other bright red star, almost exactly an opposition Antares. Now keep that in mind as we go through this. Awen, I'm thinking that since I'm bringing up the occultation here, before going into the Festival of the Red Swords, I want to go to the two maps of the occultation path.

So this shows the global view of where the occultation of Mars will be visible. Now if you think about an occultation, I do not see why there would be less significance to the path that an occultation is visible with Mars, as much as it would be with a solar eclipse. So here it's just obviously, Mars is much smaller, it's on the other side of the Sun, but here we have the path and it will be visible for about an hour. Okay, actually, on the west coast of America, it's from 6:31 to 7:31 PM on the 8th. But notice where it will be visible in northern Europe. There's the zone of transit of right where it starts, which is there where a lot of action's happening in the world right now. And then, it goes through northern Europe, Western Europe and then crosses the Atlantic, goes over Greenland and covers virtually the entirety... actually, it looks like it does cover the entirety of Canada and almost all of the U.S. I do consider this to be significant, relative to all the other factors that are taking place during the time we're in right now. Not to speak of the fact that we are in a central portion of the Great Turning of the Ages, which I reference in other video blogs and other articles. It's kind of like the peak points of it seem to be in the zone we're in now, for a variety of reasons.

Now let's take a more detailed look the pathway across the United States and Canada. So if you're living anywhere in those states or those provinces of Canada, or a certain portion of Mexico, you are going to be able to see the whole thing. And it's a pretty major event, actually. I believe particularly considering the importance of the Full Moon day, more of which we're going to be getting to here shortly,

We have provided for all of you who are listening to this, a handy dandy list of the timings by time zone in the U.S. And when you can actually witness the Moon covering Mars, you know, creating like an eclipse of Mars right. This just as you can ceremonialize lunar and solar eclipses, I think in much the same way here. And there's a lot of things that we'll see that can be ceremonialized with this upcoming Full Moon and so there you go, there's the timings and I'm obviously, not going to go through all these timings. I did reference the West Coast just a few minutes ago. And you can see just LA 6:30 to 7:30, and you know it's a little bit different depending on where you are on the west coast. Certainly Arizona it's a really excellent condition for being able to witness this and to ceremonialize it.

Now just for a moment, go back to that Full Moon chart you had there, Awen. So it's not just any old Full Moon, not a lunar eclipse, not solar eclipse, but an eclipse of Mars. "An occultation of Mars," right, close to those key degrees that are in the seven month time frame of Mars in Gemini. And I should also mention this is the exactly the time frame where Mars is going direct, and it's also the time when Mars is closest and brightest in its 26th month synod. You know it's not the very brightest of all the Mars Cycles but it's still like closest and brightest. And what about this condition of being connected to Aldebaran and Antares?

So now I want to tell you the other thing of great personal significance to me, and I became aware of something called, "The Festival of the Red Swords." I can't even remember exactly how I first became aware of this, but I found out about it in 1990. And, as I was discussing this with Awen before this video blog, it hadn't completely sunk in that in 1990, I had not even begun to become aware of Mars and Venus synodic cycles. And yet, it fits into this really quite a lot. So when I became aware of this thing called, "The Festival of the Red Swords." – and this is one of the sources of the information. "Chief Festival of The Druids," by John Hugh Roberts And, what I did is I took a group of people, we had about 25 or 30 people, in fact who knows, maybe someone out there watching this, will have been there. I can barely even remember who was actually there. I wish I had a list of that group and I put together a group of people to go down to Point Saul, and there was a deserted beach that night, and we did a fire ceremony, we did a ceremony for the Festival of the Red Swords, and then we celebrated. Now what in the world is the Festival of the Red Swords? This is, by the way, the document that I sent out at that time period and to create the group there for the Festival of the Red Swords. The thing that I'm trying to bring up here and trying to point us to, is that there has not been a Festival of the Red Swords until this Full Moon, because the same conditions are being met again. And why don't we go to that stanza that is from the Druidic Festival, what they called it was "The Covenant of Azatlan," and here were the Criterion.

"When Ruddy face Antares shall Entertain the Sun, and the Sun is saluted by Aldebaran, and Nurgal (Mars), is the guard at the door. The Druids and the Christians shall meet on the shore, foot the foot, knee to knee, breast to breast embracing."

Now what this, according to this research anyway, is the oldest of the Druidic festivals. It goes back to the sinking of Atlantis, or if you're in North America, it was called the sinking of Lemuria and when that was happening, the survivors went out to try to survive the deluge and the rising of the oceans and the weather, and all the extreme things that were happening at that time, and the breakup of that previous culture. And so what the Covenant of Azatlan was. So obviously back then, 12,000 years ago, there would not have been Christians as we would know them today. But what it was doing was it was saying, "We need to work together, whatever it is that this major catastrophe—not even getting into who caused it, how it was, whether it was a natural cycle, whether it was the wrong use of technology. I mean there's so many different things about that. I mean Edgar Casey certainly thought it was because of the misuse of technology. You can go off on that and say, "Well, some of the characters that are potentially engaged in a global coup d'etat, at least the financial coup d'etat right now. I wrote about that in last month, that they are probably for Atlanteans. If you want to look at it that way, you know, let's do it right this time. You know, right meaning the dark side of it. Anyway, the Covenant of Azatlan, through time is how we can work together, and to be able to embrace. So that in the case of this document, it was actually at that time period when Celtic Christianity was merging the old druidic traditions with the arrival of a pre-Rome Christianity. And Celtic Christianity was a really represented before the Romans, and the latter Christians came over, was a linking up of the different traditions. And then, if we say the Covenant of Azatlan, where does that come from? Well one of the places where the survivors of the catastrophe went was Mexico. And actually Azatlan is often used as the Mythic name of the original homeland of the Toltecs and Aztecs, and so on. So that was one of the places where the colonies were, and then also, I'm in you know Scotland, Ireland you know, up there and other parts. You know, Egypt and I would suggest other parts of the world, including like South America, like in the area down there in Bolivia to Anaco, and that's the whole other story we could tell at some point about those different colonies. But to me, I think the significance of this is very much that it's a covenant of cooperation, collaboration, of unification between disparate groups that work together to make it through disasters and cataclysms.

So while we began our discussion here, in this video blog, by looking at the dark side, relative to the killing of the three kings. You know what's really kind of interesting is that that three-King phenomena also shows up in the Druid documents here. Which is that they're talking about how the three kings were the three stars of Orion. And so, they were called upon for assistance and help in the Covenant of Azatlan. And so, here we have the three kings, also referred to as RFK and JFK and Martin Luther King. So it's really a blast of the past for me. But then also recognizing that I didn't even know about the synodic cycle. So it turns out that in 1990, that the same situation was happening. It was not an occultation, but you have to go back 32 years, in order to find the same conditions happening, where you have the very same Sun-Moon configuration near Antares and Aldebaran, with Mars at the door, with Mars kind of witnessing the whole thing there with Azatlan.

Hopefully a lot of you that are watching the sky, have been watching how Mars has been just hanging out at the Horns of the Bull, you know, just behind the Horns of the Bull in the Sacred Hoop of creation, in that portion of the night sky. And here we have at the time of that, of the coming Full Moon, we have the Mars position, the Moon position and Aldebaran right in that zone. You know that's a very important portion of the night sky, in the Sacred Hoop just in between the Pleiades and the Horns of the Bull. And remember, that Mars will be in Gemini, and you'll be able to see this in that vicinity of the Bull constellation for these next months to come, and also the last few months. Remembering also, that this is when Mars is at its brightest. So that you'll be able to see Mars pretty bright, even with the Full Moon. And then to be able to see it disappear behind the Moon for an hour, should be one of the more interesting of all events that you can actually experience in the night sky.

So, just for a moment let's go back and you can see how, this got... go back to that quatrain or those words about the criterion for the Festival. "When Antares, entertains the Sun Sun. Earth and the Sun is saluted by Aldebaran and Miracle the Warriors is a guard at the door." This is a set of symbols very rarely that occur. In fact, in looking at the 20th century, the only other time other than 1990 that I saw it happen was in 1943. I did not see it in the earlier 15 or 17 or 32-year possibilities for the Mars Synod, you have to go back another 47 years.

So this is absolutely worthy of further research. I'm incredibly thankful that I lived long enough to be able to remember about this 1990 event that was so incredible to work, and the fact that it's going to be happening again within this time frame of the Great Turning of the Ages.

So as I said, we began this conversation with looking at the necessity I think, to remember what happened in 1963, November 22nd, and what a second Saturn Return could be about. An opportunity to graduate to another level or to hit the same wall and that's essentially what can happen. In Saturn Returns: you learn the lessons, you break through or you graduate to the next level, or you end up finding yourself in the same set of limitations and boundaries.

And, just another thought that I have on that, is that with the Jupiter Return part of it, I do find it interesting, the most exact point of the Jupiter Return to the assassination chart, which is happening next year, is happening very much the same week as the ending of this long Saturn cycle to the U.S. Aquarius Moon. So both of those things will be happening in the same time frame. And I will, actually, when we get closer to that time, be delving into that more of the finality, the final wave of the Jupiter Return and its connection to the final portion of Saturn conjunct the U.S. Moon. All of these are issues that have gone into the previous research on the U.S. chart and how we can orient ourselves to it.

Final thoughts on this would be remembering, that night, the early evening on the West Coast, create something, create something where you have a bonfire, create something where you can celebrate the event of the Covenant of Azatlan Where all the disparate groups and tribes, work together to build a new world. That would have had to have happened after the events of the Younger Dryst and the disasters that were happening during the 12,000 years ago, time frame.

So hopefully, I've given you some stuff to work with here and to think about and did you, I know that you're out there somewhere, Awen, did you have anything you wanted to ask about before we complete in the chat

A- I just find it so interesting and if you would elaborate at all on how you said that that was actually a chief festival of The Druids right?

D – Well, that was considered well that's the opinion of the writers of that book, and where I got the material from, I would not consider myself...of all the things I've researched, I haven't researched all of the festivals of The Druids. I know what happened to The Druids. I know what their original mission and purpose was. Which was to keep alive these kinds of traditions, I know how they were destroyed. It was part of that overall predicament we could say of the Merlin, you know, where you find yourself in that position where you're recognizing the magnificence and beauty of the earlier traditions and maintaining our connection to what went before, but at the same time, being open to the new transmissions that are coming through. And it's a very difficult to find something in the world quite as magnificent as that attempt that happened in Ireland, to be able to merge together the best of the Druidic with the actual soulful and heartfelt and Piscean transmissions coming through the teachings of the Christ. And they kept that alive for a long ... it's actually still in the landscape of Ireland, you can actually still feel into it, in other parts of the remnants of the Celtic World. You can also find the similar thing actually, in pre-contact Turtle Island, North America

Yeah, I've spoken of this before in the book, the really remarkable book, "The Dawn of Everything," that talks about how, more than any other place on the planet, before European contact, that the tribes of North America were the best representation of all forms of Freedom that we've known. So the current situation we find ourselves in is not an evolution, it's not a natural thing that we must reach, but actually, previous humans had marvelous ways of collaborating and living together. And so I think this Covenant of this outline and this Festival really connects in with those ideas.

Maybe, so just another thought, maybe it was the chief one because it's the one that went furthest back just a thought.

All right so just as we wrap this up, a reminder here that this month's NEW Moon call, and you may see this before that, but just to remember that it's open to everyone, as a kind of as a year-end gift. You don't have to be a member for the for the members call, and that's coming up on the 23rd, so you're welcome to join in on that. And then coming up are two days of Solstice seminars, on I believe it's the 20th of December, the current Newsletter has a little bit, this letter will go out in a couple of days. We'll have all the details on this during the 20th and the 21st. The 20th is completely free to everyone and that will be presented by Levi Banner, who I collaborated with on the creation of the new courses, who will be speaking into the main ingredients of this Paradigm, this astrological paradigm. And the next day is our annual fundraiser, which will have a raffle this year. A lot of good prizes we're going to give away, and that will be a way to just have some interaction with the raffle and meet the other members of our Council and then, there will be what we do every year, where I myself together with Mary will be presenting a kind of a perspective, a looking ahead to the main events of 2023.

And last, but the last thing just to mention on this would be that on the 27th, Anya my old collaborator for "the Renaissance of the Sacred," who I've known for like nearly 40 years now, we're going to be doing a bonus offering, which goes into more of the subject matter of "who are we and what in the world happened to the global humanity" and looking at archeology, and looking at anthropology. And looking at usually not mainstream history, but kind of alternative history and I'm also tuning in again to the sacred sites that we would go to you know every year. You know, Ireland and Scotland and Wales and Callanish, which I think is a really good time to do that because we're coming up to the Lunar Standstill season, way more about that coming soon. So I think we're complete for today and I hope you enjoyed this.
